

A Mother's Love

wisely directed, will cause her to give to her little ones only the most wholesome and beneficial remedies and only when actually needed, and the well-informed mother uses only the pleasant and gentle laxative remedy—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—when a laxative is required, as it is wholly free from all objectionable substances. To get its beneficial effects always buy the genuine, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co.

Where the King Cannot Go.

The king of England labors under one curious disability. He may not listen to a debate in the house of commons. Admission to the legislative chamber, which is open to his lowliest subject, is denied to the sovereign. The king is the head of parliament. According to the theory of the constitution, his majesty summons parliament to meet in order that it might advise him in the government of the realm. Indeed, he is supposed theoretically to preside over its deliberations, yet it has come to pass that the actual presence of the sovereign in parliament, except on ceremonial occasions, would now be regarded as unconstitutional. He only attends in the house of lords to open parliament, to give the royal assent to bills which have passed both houses or to prorogue parliament at the end of the session. Does it not seem an extraordinary thing, asks the Grand Magazine, to say that Queen Victoria, during the course of her long reign of sixty-three years, was never in the house of commons? Not once was it given to that conscientious monarch to see "her faithful commons" at work.

Mining Coal Beneath the Sea.

"Digging dusky diamonds underneath the sea" are the miners of Cape Breton Island, N. S., where coal is taken from beneath the waves 5,800 feet from the shore line. At this point in the Princess mine the overhead cover is 1,140 feet in thickness of strata, which have thirty-three to forty feet of water above them. The undersea workings in the mine cover 1,620 acres. Mining is done by what is known as the bore and pillar system. It was begun in 1877 under an overhead cover at the shore line of 600 feet. No sea water has yet found its way into the workings as a result of removing the pillars owing to the presence of superincumbent strata of fire clay of a total thickness of thirty-nine feet and numerous beds of shale. The seam of the Princess mine averages about six feet in thickness, and the coal is of an excellent quality.

INSANITY CHARGES PROBED BY JURIES

Lee Bus, Chinese, Adjudged Insane—Charge Against Rodriguez Not Sustained.

Lee Bus, a Chinaman formerly employed at the home of H. S. Beach, 1716 Myrtle avenue, but detained in the county jail for the past four months, was adjudged insane by a jury late Wednesday afternoon. It is probable that he will be sent to the insane asylum. The jury in the case held its session at the jail. Bus complains that his head hurts, that he hears noises and that several men are after him. The jury also inquired into the sanity of Berardo Rodriguez, whose wife alleged he is insane. The jury failed to confirm any suspicions. Rodriguez was injured on the head by a cave-in a year ago, necessitating the removal of part of his skull. Leonora Acuna, a Mexican woman arrested a week ago on a charge of larceny, was delivered to immigration authorities. She will be returned to her home in Juarez.

CRUELTY TO DOG.

Fitzgerald Moor, one of the wealthiest property owners in El Paso, will be given a hearing in police court Thursday afternoon on a charge of cruelty to animals. Moor is alleged to have swept a small dog off his front porch with a broom. The dog, it is claimed, died as a result of its injuries. Detective George Harold and chief Armstrong, of the fire department, have been summoned as witnesses.

NEGRO WEAVER MAKES BOND.

Charles Weaver, the negro fined $200 in police court on a vagrancy charge, has given a $400 bond for his appeal and has been released. He was connected by the police with working the notorious padlock game in Juarez.

Man and Money.

John Selden in his table talks said: "Money makes a man laugh. A blind fiddler playing to a company, and playing poorly, caused the people for whom he was making music to laugh at him. His boy, who led him, perceiving this, cried out: 'Father, let us be gone, for they do nothing but laugh at you.' 'Hold thy peace, boy,' said the father. 'We shall have their money soon, and then we will laugh at them.' 'Enclad be beaten for teaching his pupils a mathematical figure in his school, whereby he showed that all the lives of both princes and common men tended to one center—viz, that of handsomely getting money out of other men's pockets and putting it in their own.'"

Experienced.

"Have you made up your mind just what qualities you expect to find in a husband?" asked the matron. "Why, of course," answered the maid. "Too bad," commented the matron, with a sigh. "Why do you say that?" demanded the maiden. "Oh, I hate to see young girls disappointed," answered the matron.

MEXICAN STABBED IN TWO PLACES

With two stab wounds penetrating his left lung, one on the back and the other on the side, incidentally several other ugly slashes on the arms and shoulders, Juan Guzman is detained at the police station. He was arrested Wednesday night at 10th and Oregon streets in a mauling condition by officer Rodriguez, but until Thursday morning refused to divulge the affair. Thursday he stated that he had been stabbed in a fight in a saloon at Ninth and Oregon streets, but was unable to name his assailant. The wounded man is being cared for by Dr. A. H. Butler, assistant city physician. When the wounds were dressed air blubbers from the right lung were plainly discernible, coming from the wound in the back.

SAFE IS BLOWN AT BELEN, NEW MEXICO

"Prepare for safe blowers and robbers," was the advice given Thursday morning by the police, following the receipt of a telegram from Belen, N. M., stating that yegmen Wednesday night cracked the safe of the John Becker company and escaped. The men are believed to be headed toward El Paso. No description of the safe blowers, who are stated in the telegram to be experts, was given.

FACE IS CUT INTO SHREDS BY AN AUTO

Renteria Is Badly Lacerated as Result of Collision. Chauffeur Arrested.

With his upper lip lacerated and cut into three sections, and a patch of flesh several inches square hanging from his right cheek, Juan A. Renteria, age 25, 1113 South Campbell street, was pulled from under an automobile at the corner of Stanton and Mills street Thursday morning and rushed to the emergency hospital at the police station for medical attention.

Renteria says he was riding a bicycle east on the right side of Mills street. The driver of the machine, which he said carried the number of 470, is said to have attempted to turn west into Mills street from the center of Stanton street. The collision occurred at the southwest corner of the two streets.

According to the records in county clerk Pitman's office, machine No. 470 is a five passenger Maxwell owned by Mrs. A. C. DeGroff. Walter Williams, chauffeur for Mrs. DeGroff, was arrested Thursday afternoon on a charge of reckless driving and gave bond for $25. Williams states that Renteria rode into the automobile.

Peace of Night

By DORA OWEN.

LIKE a far flame in the night,
The moon sets over the hill;
Blue distances delight,
Blue darknesses sleep still.

O patience infinite
That lulls the world to rest,
We feel thy hand to-night
Hold us against thy breast.

Keep us so folded still
When all our fret and pain
Lie open to the chill,
Clear light of day again.

Keep all the peace of night
To calm our hearts by day,
Blue depths for the soul's sight
To rest upon a way.

O hope, O rest eternal,
Comfort us, hold us still
When life's last flames shall burn
To darkness o'er the hill.

"You are an optimist?"
"I am," replied Mr. Dustin Stax. "I not only hope for the best, but I make practical arrangements to get it."

Bill—My doctor says yawning is caused by a deficiency in the air supply to the lungs.
Jill—That's funny, for a fellow usually has his best yawning when somebody is pumping "hot air" into him.

Rimple—Does your wife obey you, as she promised to do at the altar?
Simple—Well, the fact is I've never dared to test her.

"Your wife always weighs her words, doesn't she?"
"Yes. And nobody'll ever have her arrested for giving short weight."

Mother—Why did you not scream when Mr. Clive kissed you?
Daughter—He threatened me.
"How?"
"He said if I did he'd never kiss me again."

Maid—A gentleman to see you, madam.
Mistress—How do you know he's a gentleman?
Maid—Because he said "Beg pardon" before he kissed me.

At breakfast recently Andrew Carnegie indulged in a piece of pie. A diet reformer present remonstrated.
"Why, Mr. Carnegie," he said, "do you eat pie?"
"Of course," replied the noted philanthropist benignly. "What do you do with it?"

"What's a dilemma?" asked one small boy.
"Well," replied the other, "it's something like this: If your father says he'll punish you if you don't let your mother cut your hair, that's a dilemma."

A—I am surprised to hear that young Smith, who has just married old Ritchenman's daughter, has given up his profession. Does he intend to live upon love?
B—Not at all, my dear fellow, not at all, but upon the father of his love!

Carr—Jones has his own way in his house.
Barr—Yes. But his wife always tells him what it is going to be beforehand.

He—I always make a habit to kiss the girl I go out riding with.
Well, that's not a bad riding habit.

"Well, Jones, you're a good citizen. On this slippery morning your sidewalk is the only one on the street where a person can walk with safety."
"Yes—I flatter myself that I killed two birds with one stone this morning. I sprinkled the walk with a package of new breakfast food my wife bought."

"I couldn't stand it in the public parlor any longer. A man there with the worst kind of a cold in his head was telling the oldest kind of stories."
"I see. Hoarse chestnuts."

"I am going to hitch my wagon to a star," advised the experienced manager. "If there's going to be any hitch-ager, 'if there's going to be any hitch-ager, you had better make it a winter wagon."

"Is your friend up in Maine having success with his hunting?"
"Oh, yes. He's shot so many guides that they are getting afraid to go with him."

HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS

KING MINUS JOB AND WITHOUT FUNDS

Madrid, Spain, Dec. 15.—King Manuel, the dethroned monarch of Portugal, according to reports, is actually a pauper. The report comes from Rome that in an interview given with an official close to the ex-king, it was stated that Manuel is unable to choose a place of residence because of lack of money. The exiled king has been compelled to accept the hospitality of the duke of Orleans at Wood Norton, Eversham, England, and for three months, it is said, he has not had the means to pay the wages of his own servants.

Manuel, according to the interview, hopes to be restored to power, insisting that a republic in Portugal cannot exist.

CURE OF ECZEMA AND DANDRUFF

By One Box of Cuticura Ointment and One Cake of Cuticura Soap. Head Perfectly Clear.

"I am pleased to inform you that I have been cured by Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Since I was a boy I have suffered with dandruff, not only from the itching but from its disagreeable appearance in a scaly form all over my head. I had to brush it off my clothes all day long. I used every kind of preparation supposed to cure dandruff, also soaps and shampoos, but it seemed to me that, instead of improving with these remedies, the dandruff increased, even my hair began to fall out and the result was that two months ago eczema developed on my scalp."

"I suffered so from this that as a last resource I thought I would try Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. They had the most gratifying results for I had used only one box of Cuticura Ointment and a single cake of Cuticura Soap when I was cured, the eczema and dandruff were gone and my head perfectly clear. I can assure you that so long as I live no other soap than Cuticura will be used by me and all those near to me. I will also add that I will always use Cuticura Ointment as a dressing for the hair. I feel that you should know of my cure and if you desire you may use this as a true testimonial which comes from a sufferer of thirty years' standing. I will be happy to tell any one of my experience in order to assist those who may be suffering from the same disease. J. A. Acervo, General Commission Merchant, 59 Pearl St., New York, Apr. 21, 1910."

Cuticura Remedies afford the most economical treatment for affections of the skin and scalp. A cake of Cuticura Soap (25c.) and a box of Cuticura Ointment (50c.) are often sufficient. Sold throughout the world. Foster Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., 135 Columbus Ave., Boston, Mass.
